

Shelby County Players: Workshop Description

Have you ever wanted to appear on stage? Haven't been on stage for awhile? Have you ever wanted to direct a show? Well, now is your chance!

Shelby County Players will be hosting free workshops for both first-time and returning actors and directors. From these workshops, interested directors and actors will be selected to direct or act in one or more of the short scenes from the show Passengers by Sam Bobrick.

The directing workshop will take place on Tuesday, January 10th from 6:30—8:30pm at Indiana Downs. In this workshop, you will discuss director responsibilities and explore the elements of a production—including organization and planning, blocking and movement, character development, and script analysis. During this experience, we ask that you wear comfortable clothing. Warm-ups, blocking and movement will be an integral part of this experience. Those participating in the directing workshop will be asked to lead a portion of the following week's acting workshop to gain experience.

The acting workshop will take place on Tuesday, January 17th from 6:30—8:30pm at Indiana Downs. In this workshop, actors will experiment with movement, voice and examine the elements of character development. Be sure to wear comfortable clothing and come prepared to move.

Auditions for Passengers will be Monday, January 23rd. These eight short, four-to-six page scenes are a perfect way to begin your dream, either on stage or in the director's chair. Passengers will be performed on Friday, March 3rd and Saturday, March 4th 2012 at Indiana Downs.

For more information, or to express your interest in attending either workshop, send an email to workshop@shelbycountyplayers.com. We look forward to seeing you there!
